LET’S TELL A STORY THROUGH A DRAWING!

Art is a great way to tell a story. Artists use visual clues to help tell a story. These have special meaning. They stand for or represent something else that helps the viewer understand what is happening. Do you have a story you want to share? What visual clues would you use to tell your story?

MATERIALS:

1 sheet of notebook paper
1 sheet of drawing paper
Pencil
Crayons or markers

1. Think of a special day in your life that you want to tell people about. Think of what made the day special: who, what, when, and where. On your notebook paper, make a list of things that made that day so special to you.

2. From your list, think of visual clues that can tell the story about your day. If it was sunny, how would you show that?

3. On your sheet of drawing paper, begin drawing your special day. What visual clues will you use to tell your story?

4. Use your crayons or markers to add color to your drawing.
